Dr. Christian W. Hahn

Biological Cosmetic Dentistry

Biological Cosmetic Dentistry: New cosmetic materials (like your composite block and paper thin veneers) coupled with an explosion in the Biological Dentistry movement (zirconia implants, functional medicine, nutrition, etc.) has led to the age of the Biological Cosmetic Dentist. This dentist provides not only beautiful conservative cosmetic dentistry, but also guides patients through a transformation from always repairing broken teeth and suffering from poor health to lasting dentistry and optimal health. We will briefly discuss the 4 elements of Biological Dentistry - Functional Medicine, Health Optimization, Biohacking and High Tech Dentistry, and how you can have a lasting impact on your patient's quality of life.

Dr. Christian W. Hahn, a Biological Cosmetic Dentist, delivers life enhancing dentistry using a less invasive, more conservative approach. He accomplishes this by combining scientific, functional dentistry with the wisdom of a more holistic, natural approach, with the ultimate goal to help patients achieve optimal health. Dr. Hahn is an AACD Accredited Cosmetic Dentist. His methods have been featured on TLC (the learning channel) and published internationally in multiple journals. Dr. Hahn is also author of, Unbox Yourself, a book written by Dr. Hahn in which he gives people hope and a path towards living a more joyful, less stressful life.

Pat Little, DDS

Embezzlement in the Dental Practice

It only takes one desperate individual to financially ruin a dental practice. While internal controls are useful and important, they have limitations and may not be as effective as the doctor thinks. Many doctors fail to discover fraud and embezzlement until significant damage has occurred. Learn how to mitigate damages by recognizing important warning signs associated with embezzlement and fraud by understanding the characteristics and behaviors of an embezzler. Dr. Little shares some of his embezzlement cases as teaching tools that take you into the mindset of an embezzler.

- Recognize the profile of a typical embezzler
- Understand what leads to embezzlement in dental offices
- Analyze the strengths and limits of internal control strategies
- Identify the additional actions doctors need to take beyond internal controls
- Gain access to a behavioral assessment which helps identify red flag behaviors
- Management Details

As both a dentist and accountant, Dr. Pat Little brings a unique blend of skill and experience to his presentations which focus on financial risk management and financial planning. He integrates his accounting and financial education with over thirty years of varying dental experiences including starting two private practices from "scratch." After leaving clinical practice due to disability, Dr. Little returned to college to complete his accounting and general business education. While working with a dental accounting firm, he developed a deep interest in fraud and embezzlement, so he earned the Certified Fraud Examiner credential and subsequently joined Prosperident as a Senior Fraud Examiner.
